

The contention of the two famous Houses,

Sir Iohn. Iesus preferue your Maiefty.

Elnor. My Maiefty: why man, I am but Grace.

Sir Iohn. I, but by the grace of God, and Hums aduice,
Your Graces state shall be aduanc'd ere long.

Elnor. What, hast thou conferr'd with Margery Iourdain, the cunning witch of Rye, with Roger Bullenbrooke and the rest? and will they vndertake to do me good?

Sir Iohn. I haue Madam, and they haue promised me to raise a spirit from depth of vnder ground, that shall tell your Grace all questions you demand.

Elnor. Thankes good sir Iohn.

Some two dayes hence I gesse will fit our time,
Then see that they be heere:

For now the King is riding to Saint Albones,
And all the Dukes and Earles along with him.
When they be gone, then safely may they come,
And on the backe side of my Orchard heere;
There cast their Spelles in silence of the night,
And so resolute vs of the thing we wish;
Till when, drinke that for my sake, and so farewell.

Exit Elnor.

Sir Iohn. Now sir Iohn Hum, No words but mum.
Seale vp your lips, for you must silent be:
These gifts ere long will make me mighty rich,
The Dutchesse she thinks now that all is well,
But I haue Gold comes from another place,
From one that hyred me to set her on,
To plot these treasons gainst the King and Peeres;
And that is the mighty Duke of Suffolke.
For he it is, but I must not say so,
That by my meanes must worke the Dutchesse fall,
Who now by Coniurations thinks to rise,
But whist sir Iohn, no more of that I tro,
For feare you lose your head before you go.
